Actions to Stop Doing

- Not communicating as often - Communication has been a bit spotty. We talk after class, giving a brief overview of what we have been doing. We would like to improve in this area.
  - We have gotten better, but we can improve more on this from the last Sprint

Actions to Start Doing

- Using the scrum board more - We think we can make a better use of updating our scrum board
- Meeting up more often - Occasionally make plans to meet up and work together as a group but have not been doing so. We need to meet a few more times this week
- Use git more efficiently - We use git for version control, but we think we can use it more efficiently in terms of controlling our project

Actions to Keep Doing

- Code Jam Sessions - The most work that we did this sprint was in group meetings. It was very helpful to work together in person. We should strive to have more of these in the coming sprints.
- Flexibility - We are really flexible with one another, and it allows for a stress free team environment.

Work completion rate

Two of the three user stories were completed this sprint, resulting in around 20 hours of work. We had estimated 25. This included wrapping up tying everything together.
